Colorado for Family Values

Dear Concerned Coloradan:

I have urgent news to share with you.

First, forget anything you've heard about Amendment Two that might have pictured this issue as resting in a holding pattern. After the months of media analysis, endless rhetoric, steady streams of speculation from every quarter, it's easy to let all the talk cloud over the true, crucial state of this battle.

This news will change all that. It's critical news -- fresh from the front lines here at Colorado for Family Values.

I'm warning of new, even more menacing threats from militant homosexuals seething over Amendment Two.

The news?...

> Despite Amendment Two's decisive victory... Despite a surge in our support caused by our opponents' outrageous post-election tactics... Despite weeks of controversy and retaliation... Despite the initial promise of having our "day in court"...
> Militant homosexuals in Colorado today have more plans to demand protected status and clamp down on our schools and local governments than at any other time in history.

It's incredible, but it's true. Emboldened by Judge Bayless' restraining order barring Amendment Two's implementation until after the court challenge, homosexual activists have vowed to reverse the whole impact of Amendment Two.

In short, the threat remains grave.

That's why Colorado for Family Values needs your support more than ever. Already, militant homosexuals and their liberal supporters have started raising millions: Denver software magnate Tim Gill pledging a million dollars against Amendment Two... Aspen fund-raisers with the likes of Liza Minelli raising $250,000 in a single night!... We, on the other hand, depend on Coloradans like you: everyday working Coloradans anxious to protect their freedoms. We must match the gay "war-chest".

Here, specifically, is the main threat: A pro-gay witness in the recent hearings made the following prediction during testimony:

> If Amendment Two is enjoined, militant homosexuals will redouble their political and

"educational" efforts in the state, especially at the local, city and school levels, to win special rights and force their agenda on Colorado.

As you know, Judge Bayless did enjoin Amendment Two, giving us every reason to believe this threat will be carried out.

What does the threat represent?

- In your community, previously covert homosexual activists will soon begin activating contacts they've been cultivating for years with various city authorities. Like so many others around the nation, your community could wake up and find that without warning, homosexual activists stand poised to ram-rod special-rights ordinances into your local code.

Measures that could force your church, your business, your day-care center to hire homosexuals regardless of the beliefs of those who run them.

- Your local school district will -- if it hasn't already -- come under a sudden barrage of pressure to begin teaching the "healthy, normal" homosexual lifestyle. Denver public students are already being read "Daddy's Roommate" and "Heather Has Two Mommies", and preached to on the evils of "homophobia". In short, gay academia is force-feeding your children, with your tax-dollars, the kind of propaganda one Queens, New York school board was recently dismissed for refusing to accept.

- Local groups will begin -- as they have already in Denver and Colorado Springs -- going through your community targeting the businesses of anyone who supported Amendment Two for economic reprisals. Their aim: economic punishment against any business-person who disagrees with their agenda.

This, and more, is what our opponents mean by "local efforts".

We can take action against this threat -- powerful, strategic action. But we can't undertake efforts of this magnitude without support.

In the months ahead, we're rolling out a series of statewide "Community Watch" seminars to equip citizens like you to begin monitoring, alerting and responding to the activities homosexual activists are planning for local communities.

"Community Watch" will give Coloradans the tools to hold the tide and maintain the ground we've won. And we hope to see you there.

If you value this kind of effective, coordinated, stand against homosexual extremism, will you join us in the fight?

Your gift of $50, $35, $20 or whatever you can contribute, will have the maximum impact on this issue, because Colorado for Family Values operates efficiently, on the tightest of operating budgets, with a small staff and the help of generous volunteers. Most who see our facilities marvel at all we get accomplished on the slim resources available to us. (Our opponents outspent us two-to-one in their losing campaign.) We work at making the best possible use of the contributions entrusted to us. And please: make plans to attend the "Community Watch" seminar in your area.

Please, take action with us. Quite honestly, without your support, this battle is still in danger of falling to the militant homosexuals.

Sincerely,

Will Perkins
